

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A toner cartridge 40 has a storage element 50 that stores recycling information. A cartridge recycling
5 information apparatus of the invention outputs a recycling request form based on the recycling information stored in the storage element 50 at a specified output timing of the recycling information. This arrangement desirably saves the user's labor and time of searching for the recycling
10 request form and enables the user to be readily notified of the recycling information.